GREENVILLE NEWS

Resolutions Adopted by Swedish Congregation—Peck, McWilliams Lowest Bidders for Reconstruction of Swedish Church.

At a meeting of the members of the Swedish church held in the old Methodist church on North Main street Monday evening, Rev. P. A. Peterson presiding, resolutions were passed in recognition of the kindness of the several churches in the city who offered the use of their church buildings to the Swedish congregation from the time the Swedish church was damaged by fire, February 21st last, until such a time as they are able to reconstruct the church. It was also resolved that a copy of the resolutions be sent to the Greenville Congregational church, the Federated church, St. Andrew's Episcopal church, the Second Congregational church and the Universalist church, these being the churches that so generously offered the use of their church buildings to the Swedish congregation.

Similar resolutions made in the Swedish language and to be forwarded to lodge No. 30, V. O. of A. and the Scandinavian Sick and Benefit society, Sweden.

Among other business matters discussed were the plans for the church bazaar, which is to be held in Union hall, North Main street, during May. The committee appointed to make the necessary arrangements consists of the deacons, the trustees, the Ladies' society and the Young Ladies' society of the church.

The building committee met last Thursday evening at which time the bids submitted by the contractors for the reconstructing of the church were opened and read. Peck, McWilliams & Co. were the lowest bidders on the general contract and on the electrical contract. The electrical contract has yet been signed. Estimates on the steam heating and plumbing are being prepared and will be submitted to the building committee.

The bids were submitted to the congregation at a meeting held Saturday evening and the action of the committee was approved.

Small Fire at U. S. F. Co.
An alarm from box 27, North Main street fire station, at 1:45 o'clock Monday afternoon, called the department out for a fire at the plant of the United States Finishing company. The fire was in what is known as the can room and was caused by a light being thrown over the heating of one of the exhaust fans. When the fire broke out the employees were at work in the room.

CITY OF NORWICH TAKES APPEAL

Claims It is Taxed too High in Montville for Stony Brook Brook Reservoir Property—Put in at $5,837—Montville Assessors Raised it to $9,575—Board of Relief Refused to Abate.

The city of Norwich has taken an appeal from the doings of the board of relief of the Town of Montville over the value of the real estate which the city owns in Montville and which is part of the Stony Brook reservoir property. The appeal is made returnable before the Superior Court on the first Tuesday in May.

The complaint in the matter states that in October, 1913, the city filed its tax list with the assessors of the town of Montville, in which the value of the real estate owned by the city of Norwich in the town of Montville was placed at $5,837.

This amount was raised by the Montville assessors to $9,575 and when the plaintiff appealed before the Montville board of relief on Feb. 2, 1914, to have this amount reduced, the board heard the appeal, but declined to make any reduction.

The plaintiff claims that the valuation of which the Montville board of relief has allowed to stand is unfair, unequal, unjust and excessive and asks the court to grant such relief as may be in the matter.

The property taxed covers the dam and all the land owned by the city in Montville for the Stony Brook reservoir. In the last annual report of the board of water commissioners it is shown that the Stony Brook reservoir acreage in Montville is 252.70 acres.

ROAD IMPROVEMENTS AT LOGGER HILL.

Big Changes in Grade and Construction—Cut of 800 Feet in Length.

Rapid progress is being made at the changes in grade and construction of the road at Logger Hill. The drilling and blasting of the hill has been completed and the highway is now being macadamized. It is expected that it will take from four to six weeks longer to complete the work.

The changes are extensive. The hill has been cut down to such an extent that it is hardly recognizable as the steep and dangerous grade which formerly existed there.

The rise was over a high ledge, a winding road descending for a considerable distance on both sides. The ledge has been cut down about 15 feet and the stone used to fill in at the bottom of the ledge, making a marked change in grade.

The company doing the work has a gang of between 30 and 40 men there, and they at once began to fight the flames. The fire whistle at the plant was blown, this being the signal to pull in the private box at the plant, box 241, but someone who heard the whistle pulled in box 27. If 341 had rung in, several of the city companies would have responded, but as it was only the autochemical responded from the city. When Chief Stanton arrived at the fire he learned that it was under control and immediately returned to the call. One tank of chemical was used on the flames, and little damage resulted.

Car Left Track.
About 6:30 o'clock Monday evening car No. 35 jumped the track while being backed out of the upper car barn. All four wheels left the rails and became imbedded in the sand. The car was replaced on the rails after considerable trouble.

EASTER SERVICES.

Large Congregations With Inspiring Sermons and Musical Programmes.

In the observance of Easter Sunday there were large congregations at the inspiring services held at the following churches:

At Christ Episcopal.
Christ Episcopal church was beautiful in its floral decorations for the day, the altar covered with Easter lilies, and the front of the chancel the delicate colorings of tulips, daffodils, spirea and other flowers were banded against a background of green with graceful effect. The memorial font, and the memorial windows around the church, all had their usual rich floral decorations and a floral pillow adorned the rail in front of the altar.

The thoughtful sermon for the day by the rector, Rev. R. H. Graham, was from the text, "That I may know the power of His resurrection and the fellowship of His suffering."

Under the leadership of the organist and choir director, the two vested choir boys sang, rendered the Easter music with inspiring melody, and in the afternoon at 4 o'clock led a carol service for the Sunday school. The members of the congregation filled the body of the church, and the offering was for missions. It was taken by classes and amounted to $44.94, which is one of the largest Easter offerings the school has ever given. The school was addressed briefly by the rector before the offering was taken.

At Second Congregational.
At the morning service at the Second Congregational church the pastor, Rev. H. J. Wyckoff, preached upon the theme "The Invitation of Jesus to Eternal Life, taking as his text John 10: 10, 'I came that I may have life, and may have it abundantly.'"

It is a shallow impatience, he said, which sorts everything into two categories of Yes or No, good or bad, alive or dead; and an even shallower conceit which assumes that with this swift sorting final things have been reached. "We are not here to say, 'course not,' says to the preacher of this invitation from the Lord of Life. With infinite patience He opens their eyes to the essentials of life, that living in functioning in environment, and that incomplete living invites destruction; that life's security is in its abundance, and that as the increasing abundance grows toward completeness life takes on the qualities which ally it with the eternal purposes of God. Not its quantity in terms of length, but of solid bulk; not a quantity of indefinite extension, but of spiritual texture constitute it eternal. Jesus' Easter invitation is here that is assurance that the petty round of physical life shall swing on forever in its little life circle; the risen Christ reveals the way out on which faith leads to the possibilities of abundant life.

The special music for the day was finely rendered by the quartette under the direction of Mrs. George T. Leach and the pulpit was decorated with palms and Easter lilies in graceful arrangement.

At First Baptist.
The First Baptist church was very lovely with its floral decorations, palms, ferns with flowers and Easter lilies. The pulpit plants given by the Bible school classes were later sent to the church sick and shut-ins.

In his sermon the pastor, Rev. G. H. Strouse, reminded his hearers that Easter was the day when we strike the note of joy and gladness for Christ has indeed risen. It is a note of certainty and triumph. In no other way than by the resurrection of Jesus could we explain the marvelous triumphs of Christianity.

The resurrection was the climax in a life where all was truly marvelous. It was reasonable and in harmony with all that Christ was and all life should be. Christ was King in every sphere during his earthly ministry. When he met death, I would expect Him to buffet the same kindly qualities. And here we are not disappointed. He met death and conquered it. We hail Him as our risen Lord and believe through Him we shall rise and live the immortal.

The resurrection of Christ is Christianity's great dynamic. Timid disciples became bold and courageous apostles after the resurrection. They had a resurrected Christ to offer the world. The human race is hungry for immortality. The heathen philosophers hoped for it and said it might be true, but the apostles preached it and said it was true. And Jesus Christ, once dead, but now alive, had opened the gates to the life immortal.

At St. Mary's Church.
The joy of the Feast of the Resurrection was the refrain noted in St. Mary's church at the three masses on Sunday. The altar was beautifully decorated with choice cut flowers, while palms and potted plants graced the sanctuary.

The 7:30 o'clock mass was celebrated by Rev. William H. Kennedy and at this mass the young ladies' sodality made their monthly communion in large numbers, their singing of Easter hymns adding much to the impressiveness of the service.

The 9 o'clock mass was also offered by Father Kennedy with many communicants at the altar. The junior choir rendered the Easter music at this service and their work was worthy of commendation.

The 10:30 o'clock mass, which was a high mass, was offered by the pastor, Rev. John H. Fitzmaurice. The soloists were Miss Sadie A. Driscoll, soprano; Miss Rose Malone, alto; John C. Fontaine, tenor, and Horace F. Corbett, bass. The choir, together with that of the chorus was excellently done under the direction of the organist, Miss Lena C. Boudreau.

In their service for the day both priests dwelt on the merits of the resurrection, turning it into a day of peace, gladness and victory, for if Christ had not risen, for though He predicted that He would rise from the dead and His enemies had stationed a band of soldiers to guard the tomb, they who were His executioners were the first to announce to the world the proof of His resurrection.

The Feast of the Resurrection is a pre-figurative feast, for it is a day when we are to be judged in accordance with how our lives have been spent on this earth.

The special offertory at the three masses was for diocesan charities, with a special offering on St. Agnes' Home for Dependent Infants at Hartford, which opens its doors next month. The offerings present to be of a very generous nature.

The altar decorations were in charge of the Sisters of the parish, showing their usual good taste and judgment.
